

ROBERTET'S NEAR-TERM AND NET ZERO TARGETS VALIDATED BY SCIENCE-BASED TARGETS INITIATIVE

Grasse (France), 27 October 2025

Robertet, the world leader in natural raw materials, announces today an important milestone in its climate journey, with its near-term and long-term net-zero greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction targets validated by the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi).

Robertet has set the following near-term targets:

- To reduce absolute scope 1 and 2 GHG emissions 54.6% by 2033 from a 2023 base year;
- To reduce absolute scope 3 GHG emissions from purchased goods and services 32.5% by 2033 from a 2023 base year;
- To have 76.73% of its suppliers by spend covering purchased goods and services with science-based targets by 2030.

In accordance with SBTi's Net-Zero Standard, Robertet also commits to achieve net-zero GHG emissions across the value chain by 2050.

Since 2020, Robertet has improved its industrial and energy practices and reduced absolute scope 1 & 2 emissions by 11%, while accomplishing a 50% growth in revenue over the same period.

Jérôme Bruhat, CEO, commented: "As the world leader in naturals, sustainability is a critical component of Robertet's long-term strategy. Raising our climate ambition by setting new science-based targets was essential to demonstrate our commitment to addressing climate change. Robertet is excited to embark on this journey and determined to accelerate partnerships and investments to achieve these new goals."

Julien Maubert, Director of the Raw Materials Division & Chief Sustainability Officer, commented: "For 175 years, sustainability has been at the heart of Robertet's values. SBTi's approval of our Net-Zero targets represents a major milestone in our climate journey. Thanks to the global commitment of our teams and our unique 'Seed to Scent' model, we simultaneously honor our heritage and open a new ambitious chapter for the future."
